Scott by cavalty secouts at a late hour last evening. A terrible rain storm prevailed all night, caming great discomfort to the itroops; (most of them were sooked to the skin while on the alert for the enemy. No hostile demonstration, however, took place.

It is now positively ascertained that there is a very large concamination of rebels al Manaseas Junction, and that they are determined to defend that position is othe last, but advices received to-day at headquarters show hat night's information of an advance of the enemy was masse to have been erroneous. The secouts were minical by strong rebel pickets, which they supposed to be an advance of the enemy is masser to have been erroneous. The fectual of the army. It will now take a large force to drive the rebels from Manassa Junction, and probably cost a heavy loss of life. The opinion now prevails in military circles that it was a great mistake not to make a dash at that point two weeks ago with the whole force, and then advance into Virginia. Gen. Besturegard is certainly in command at the Junction. Several parties that early him have arrived here during the last 34 hours.

I have a Virginia Unionist who slopt at Pair-fax Court House hast night, at Alexandria this day. He says 8,000 rebels are there.

Incessant rains have rendered the roads/so bad that an advance of the Pederal army cannot possibly be made at this point. Artillery and beggage and provision trains could not be got through the knee-deep mud.

Great excitement was produced at a late hour last evening by a runnor that among the editorial comments and the code of the Austrian Government to the courter probably would not be got through the knee-deep mud.

**BEADING FOR THE BOYS.**

Now that the boys at Cairo, have got the roots and stumps on the site of their various camps grabbed out, their breast works built, and their big guns mounted, they will have leisure to read a bit, in the intervals of military duty. Rev. Robbert Collyen, of the Ministry-at-large, (Unitarian) than whom there is no one more zealous in good works, kindly offers to take charge of and find means to send to and distribute among the troops, all books and other reading matter that may be forwarded for that purpose to the Tribunks office.

We trust that Mr. Collyer's appeal may be responded to by the people of all localities from which volunteers have been sont. Southward. If we were allowed to suggest, we should say that elementary books treating of Natural Science, books of travel, bloographies, moral and religious treatises, with a proper admixture of fiction, would meet the demand. Soldiers have no time to study. They will read for instruction and amusement, principally, we fear, the latter; hence heavy tomes are not what they ask. The religious societies are doing much to intruish them with serious reading; but "man lives not by fracts alone." Newspapers are never amiss; we are told that they are devoured in camp with great avidity. Indeed anything that will vary received. The restofore our Standay papers have been stilled, respectable and though tolerably readable, rather slow. But in the last fow weeks able, rather slow. But in the last fow weeks they have picked up their crumbs marvellons, by, both in the way of general interest and they have signalized themselves (and descented the day as some Puritans will care they have it) by the issue of extras throughout the day. Now a new competitor has entired the day. All the time of the saveg to the new shop histories in relief from the dia and turmoill of the week. I don't like to disparage asy merful class of citizens, but I must say the new-boy business is rather overdone here week days, and one of my chief a ubjects of self-gratulation at the arrival of the saved day has hitherio been that no outrageous and piercing alto would pipe in my ear the familiar strain of "Ero's your Herold—last cdealers." The suspension of the Southern malls will be arricasly felt here, as elsewhere, by those who have related on the Southern journals for aspection of literary altiment skin to what one derives from reading the Ingoldsby Legends, the Rejected Addresses, and other exquisitely ledicrous productions. How can we all forego the intellectual reflection let out for us in the columns of the Richmond, Charleston, Memphis and New Orleans journals? Their unimpreschable logic, their stern Roman regard to truth, their Addisonian purity of style, have long been our daily delight. Deprived of them our sun will go down in darkness and cur children grow up in ignorance. I know that a cabinet meeting was called, to consider what reply should be sent to the query from Gen. Butter concerning the disposition of abveryoperty in his possession. I also know that Mr. Sew and managed to get the ear of the President prior to the hour of meeting, and persuaded him to defor the settlement of the question until a future time. GEN. LER'S PLANS.

It is said that the intention of General Lee was not to engage the Federal troops until they reached a certain point to which he hoped to draw them, while in the meantime he designed to throw out his troops so as to take them in the rear; but as General Scott has a happy fashion, in making his movements, of leaving no rear to be attacked, it is exceedingly probable that General Lee will be disap pointed in his calculations. It is evident that the rebels are making strennous efforts to defend Manassas Junction, which it is the policy of our Government to take possession of. AMES H. CHILDS & CO. F. CARVER & CO., TO ILLINOIS MERCHANTS st point of destination.

The unit of the Commissarist Department is the ration. The amount and quality of a ration is exclusted on the basis of the full, beside, and comfortable support of an able-bodied man, with some allowance for wastage. The kind of food is selected (after due allowance for the means of supply) with reference to the greatest amount of healthy nutrition in the smallest space. In this, long observation has taught this meat and bread are the main articles. But few vegetables are used in the army, on account of their bulky and perishable nature. But men must have something of vegetable and acid kind in their food, in order to avoid scurvy and custaneous diseases. In the British army a free use is unde of vinegar, rice and raisins. We are glad to notice from our special dispatches, that the projected quartering of the Kentneky brigade of Union troops at Louis ville is discretionary with Gen. McClallan. The people of Kentneky will, we are covinced, have every confidence in the address which accompanied the movement of troops under his orders into Western Virginia.

There is little reason to doubt that a conspiracy has been fully matured in the councils of the accession camps in Tennesses, for an armed invasion of Kentucky on the first colorable pretext which can be trumped up. That pretext is most likely to be selzed in the stoppage, by order of the General Government, of all supplies sent to the rebellious States via the Louisville & Nashville railroad. This is a clear measure of milliary necessity—in case the blockade determined upon to bring the acdicious States to terms is to be capything but an entry name. It will unde "bidly be soon enforced and at all bazards. If the lennessee rebels, who have themselves embargoed bost after boat belonging to and bound for Louisville, are determined to resist the embargo of the Government, they must take the consequences.
